

IU PIIC Mentors work with instructional coaches to focus on increasing student engagement and imp

The Pennsylvania Institute for Instructional Coaching (PIIC)

PIIC, a partnership of the Annenberg Foundation and the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE)

PIIC builds on the work of the PAHSCH (the Pennsylvania Department of Education), which funded the PIIC to create a statewide instructional coaching program. The PIIC is a partnership of the Annenberg Foundation and the Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE).

The PIIC Approach The approach to instructional mentoring and instructional coaching reflects the growing consensus that

- Ongoing and job-embedded, recognizing that teachers want and need strategies for continuous improvement
- Linked to state standards, curriculum, and assessment, so that teachers build knowledge and skills
- Confidential and non-evaluative, so that teachers can work honestly and openly with their coaches
- Founded on evidence-based strategies for improving instruction, to offer teachers practical, classroom

The PIIC Program Implementing one-on-one coaching is the heart of PIIC. To be successful, coaches need

- An ongoing program of study on instructional coaching, mentoring, and teacher professional development
- Online resources for mentors and coaches, including toolkits, guides, and training curricula.
- Materials and training for school leaders to build their capacity to support coaching.
- Specific training, as appropriate, in the Penn Literacy Network's evidenced-based strategies for developing literacy
- Research and evaluation to analyze the effectiveness of instructional coaching and gather data to

Mentors Each IU will have an instructional coaching mentor, a position funded by PDE. Mentors will work

- Collaborate with coaches, teachers, and school leadership to identify needs.
- Analyze appropriate data and develop goals and a plan of action.
- Provide support for coaches individually and in groups, on-site or by email and videoconferencing.
- Create a "coaching community" within the IU.
- Participate in PIIC training to expand their instructional coaching knowledge and skills.
- Organize a variety of professional development activities for coaches and other school staff.

Coaches Instructional coaches provide one-on-one, “over-the-shoulder” assistance to teachers, helping

- Have the opportunity to participate in PIIC professional development activities.
- Work one-on-one with teachers in classrooms, offering confidential, non-evaluative feedback.
- Foster a collegial learning network of teachers and coaches in the district.
- Work with school administrators and leadership teams to support the coaching program.

PIIC Technical Providers Annenberg Foundation and Pennsylvania Department of Education, PIIC draws

- FHI 360 and Senior Advisor and Evaluator Elliott Medrich, who are conducting research on the impact of coaching.
- The Penn Literacy Network, which provides an evidence-based literacy professional development program.
- The Philadelphia Foundation, which provides administrative and management support to PIIC.
- Capital Area IU 15, which provides administrative and management support to PIIC.

More Information

For more information about PIIC, browse this website, check out our brochure or contact PIIC.

For more information about PAHSCI, click here.

For more information about instructional coaching, visit The Instructional Coaching Resource Guide.